

Amateur Radio Alphabet!

This to our attention last year after the ARRL sponsored an event for women where they were to make contacts with other operators and log their call sign. Simple enough, but the goal was to find a call sign for each of the letters in the alphabet.

The way we are going to play is simple. You talk to another operator, in any mode or band, and log their call sign. If I were looking for a “K”, or a “D”, or an “E”, or a “P”, or an “N”, I could talk with Lori (kd0epn). The kink is that you can only use her call sign once and for one letter! It sounds simple, but it gets more difficult as you fill in most of the letters.

You will use a special log in sheet located on the club website under “contest”. The event runs from April 1st until the club Christmas Party on December 10. Certificates will be presented at that time to successful participants.

Thanks!
